Roast beef tenderloin in sour cream sauce - Svičková

- 4 lbs. beef tenderloin
- 3 slices bacon
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 2 cups sliced soup greens (carrots, parsnips, celery root)
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- few grains allspice, whole black pepper, thyme, bay leaves, nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup beef stock
- juice of one lemon
- 1-1/2 cups sour cream
- salt and pepper

Tenderloin must be aged and all the fat trimmed off. Cut small slits along the grain of the meat and stuff them with thin strips of bacon. Salt and pepper the meat and set aside.

In a large frying pan combine the oil, half of the sliced soup greens and the onion; place the roast on top and brown on all sides.

In the meantime preheat the oven to 350F. Transfer the roast and the vegetables into a roasting pan, add the remaining vegetables and spices. Roast 40-45 minutes, basting with beef stock and juices from the pan. Remove the roast, keep it warm. Pour the pan drippings into a large stewpan, skim the fat, set pan over medium heat and deglaze, using stock or water. Add the flour, simmer five minutes. Place the roast in the sauce, add the lemon juice and simmer until the meat becomes tender on the outside (20 minutes).

Strain the sauce, discard the spices, mash the vegetables and mix them into the sauce. Blend in the sour cream and simmer for a few minutes. The sauce should be medium thick.

Slice the roast, pour some sauce over it and serve the remainder in a sauce dish.

It is important that you make enough sauce, adding beef stock and sour cream. Taste it and add salt, pepper, lemon juice – if needed. The taste should be mildly piquant.

The typical accompaniment is crouton or yeast dumplings, or noodles.

Serves 6 – Preparation time: 2 hours

Alternative – Lard the tenderloin, grease a roasting pan with oil, cover the bottom of the pan with the vegetables, lay the roast on top, add more vegetables, spices and lemon juice. Add the remaining oil, cover and marinate overnight. Next day prepare the roast as indicated above.

- ⇒ If planning to prepare a larger quantity, for example a whole tenderloin, increase all ingredients accordingly. Instead of browning the roast by frying, roast it on all sides in a hot oven (475F), then lower the temperature to 350F and proceed as shown above.

Beef tenderloin slices (shortcut for "svíčková") - Řezy ze svíčkové

- 4 lbs. beef tenderloin
- 3 slices bacon

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1-1/2 cups chicken or beef stock, or water

Cut the tenderloin into 1" thick slices. Pound each slice with the palm of your hand and lard with half slice bacon each. Salt and pepper them lightly and fry in hot oil about 2-1/2 minutes on each side. Place them in a casserole, keep them warm.

In a saucepan combine melted butter, onion, pickles, anchovies, parsley, capers, lemon rind, marjoram and thyme and brown all. Add flour, brown a little more. Add stock or water, sour cream. Simmer for five minutes, strain and pour over the meat slices. Simmer until heated through.

Instead of frying, they can be roasted in the oven, basting them with hot oil, their own juices, chicken or beef stock, or water.

- 1 whole egg
- 2 hard baked rolls

Turn the mixture over onto a board dusted with bread crumbs. Form a 3/4" thick rectangle. Arrange hard boiled eggs and peeled and diced pickles by longer side of the rectangle. Roll the meat mixture over the eggs and form a loaf. Grease baking tray with oil, sprinkle the remaining oil over the loaf, and bake at 350F for one hour. Beef goulash · Guláš z hověziho masa

- 3-4 lbs. boneless beef stew meat (bottom round, rump, chuck), cut in 1-1/2" cubes
- 2-3 cups beef stock or water
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 3 slices bacon cut in short strips
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 3 cloves garlic, pressed or chopped
- 2 tablespoons paprika
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon each of caraway seeds and marjoram
- salt and pepper

Heat oil in a large stewpan. Add bacon and onion. Cook slowly, stirring and turning frequently until bacon is lightly browned and onion is translucent. Add beef. Sprinkle evenly over the meat: caraway seeds, marjoram, paprika, garlic. Cover, simmer one hour over low heat adding occasionally 2-3 tablespoons beef stock or water, if needed. Liquid in the pan should be just enough so that the onion and the meat do not burn or stick to the pan.

When meat is half done, uncover pan and let cooking liquid nearly evaporate. Sprinkle flour over meat and braise 2-3 minutes. Add enough beef stock or water to cover the meat. Simmer 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Should the sauce be too thick, add some more beef stock or water.

Taste sauce, season with salt and pepper. Lift meat onto a warmed deep serving dish. Strain sauce and pour over meat.

Serve with boiled potatoes, rice, salad.

Salt the meat and lightly fill the cavity with stuffing. Enclose it with stitches, or use a skewer. Lay the stuffed veal breast in a roasting pan with rack, skin down. Pour some of the melted butter on top and roast at 350F for 45 minutes. Turn it and roast 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until golden on top.

Let it stand 5 minutes. Slice and sprinkle with juices from the pan. Serve with boiled potatoes, vegetables, salad, compote.

Baking guidelines

Baking with fresh yeast:

Fresh yeast is sold in most American supermarkets packed in 2 oz. cubes and dated for freshness (Fleischmann's, Red Star). Store it in the refrigerator but remove it at least 1 hour prior to using.

- All ingredients as well as the pastry board or the mixing bowl must be at room temperature. Milk and butter must be lukewarm, not hot. It would inactivate the yeast. When the dough is set aside to rise it must be in a warm and draft free place. The dough should be dusted with a little flour and covered with cloth napkin.
- While kneading the dough, the melted butter and the salt should not touch directly the leavening, as this would retard fermentation. Therefore mix the salt with the flour and add the butter in the end when all ingredients are already mixed with the leavening.
- The dough for larger pieces is thicker than for small size pastries. If you find it difficult to use a wooden spoon, you can knead with hands after all ingredients are well mixed. The dough must be kneaded thoroughly, until it is smooth, feels dry, and no longer sticks to the bowl, spoon and hands.
- The quantities of ingredients indicated are to be followed exactly. So is the sequence of additions.

Butter always means unsalted butter

Sugar - unless otherwise indicated, i.e. crystal or confectioner's sugar, means granulated sugar.

Flour - means sifted flour. In the U.S. all flour is sold pre-sifted.

Grated lemon rind - If you do not have a manual grater, peel the lemon and chop the rind finely.

Bohemian open-faced pastries - České koláčky

- 4 cups flour
- 1 oz. fresh yeast
- 2 cups milk
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 6 tablespoons butter
- grated rind of 1 lemon
- 2 egg yolks
- dash of grated nutmeg
- 1 whole egg for brushing
- 1 cup filling or thick fruit preserve

Leavening: In a bowl stir yeast with 2 teaspoons sugar until dissolved. Add 2/3 cup flour and 1/2 cup lukewarm milk. Knead into a ball. Dust with flour, cover with napkin, let rise in a warm place. It will double in bulk within 20 minutes.

In a separate bowl combine remaining flour and sugar, lemon rind, nutmeg, salt. Place risen leavening in center.

Lightly beat egg yolks and the remaining lukewarm milk, then add it gradually to flour/leavening while mixing thoroughly. Finally add melted lukewarm butter and knead dough until smooth and elastic.

Dust with flour, cover with a napkin and let rise 40 minutes in a warm place.

Punch dough down and turn onto lightly floured pastry board. Break off dough and form balls the size of a walnut. Place them on a greased baking sheet, 4" apart. Let rise 10 minutes.

Press down the center of each ball, using bottom of a small glass or other round object, or with your fingers, so that a higher border will be formed. Brush borders with beaten egg. Spread filling evenly over center wells. Let rise 15 minutes.

(If using butter crumbs filling, brush with melted butter first. This way filling will stick).

Preheat oven to 350F, bake 15 minutes, or until borders are golden brown.

Dust with sugar while warm.
